18th July 2003

The latest growth in on-line content sees more than 5,400 sample pages from Taylor & Francis titles added to our databases, increasing the breadth and content of enterBooks.com and enterProfile.com. Content expansion such as this only adds to the already impressive capabilities of the Dawson on-line services. Moreover, Dawson continues to strive for more sources of enriched data, giving library staff the tools they need to make title selections.

Reading the new pages is easy as they are only available in the top flight DX reader format which provides you with the very best possible online reading experience available. To view these new pages you will require Internet Explorer 5.5 or at least version 6.1 of Netscape Navigator.
