

Growth in Environmental Awareness Fuels Publisher Output

Massive oil spills in the Gulf of Mexico, harvest failures in Russia and catastrophic floods in Pakistan and Chad mean that very little is currently more topical than the environment and global sustainability. Many publishers' recent output reflects this with titles appearing on all related subjects.

The past couple of months have seen a significant addition of ebooks in this area from three key publishers - Earthscan, Edward Elgar and Pluto Press. Authors of high calibre such as award winning Chris Goodall (How to Live a Low-Carbon Life) and Green Party Member of Parliament, Caroline Lucas, (Green Alternatives to Globalization) have recently joined the ranks of dawsonera authors.

The following is just a selection of ebooks added to dawsonera since June this year:
