

Un Accueil Chaleureux to Our French Publishers!

Dawsonera is delighted to welcome three of the finest French academic publishers, bringing a welcome European feel to our growing catalogue of ebooks.

Éditions Quae expects to become a benchmark for scientific publishing, with 150 ebooks in English and French, responding to the expectations and concerns of a demanding and attentive readership keen to gain access to reliable, quality scientific information. Its publishing team work with authors who are among the foremost specialists in each field to bring you the very best in scientific publishing today.

Éditions Quae publishes on the Environment, Agriculture and Crop Production, Forestry, Animal Rearing, Fishing, Aquatic and Aquacultural Resources, Food and Human Nutrition.

EDP Sciences is a publishing house fully dedicated to its authors and readers striving to promote the growth of scientific publications on an international scale. Under the co-ownership of the Société Française de Physique (French Physics Society), the Société Française de Chimie (French Chemical Society) and the Société de Mathématiques Appliquées et Industrielles (Society for Industrial and Applied Mathematics) ensures that EDP is an authority in the scientific world.

Started in 1920, several renowned scientists and industrialists are among its founders. It has since grown to serve the communities of numerous scientific industries including Chemistry, Engineering and Technology, General knowledge, Health Sciences and Dentistry, Life Sciences, Mathematics and Computer Sciences, Physics, Astronomy and Astrophysics, Social Sciences and Humanities.

Their mission to further extend their publishing reach through partnerships with the scientific and academic communities means they share our goals here at Dawson and have provided us with 160 ebooks in French and English.

Éditions Eyrolles belongs to Le Groupe Eyrolles, a French group of publishers which specialise in professional and technical books in the fields of IT Programming, Business Studies, Construction, Psychology, Engineering, Maths and the Physical Sciences.

Started in 1925 by Leon Eyrolles, the founder of the Special School for Public Works, Construction and Industry, it was later handed down to his son, Serge Eyrolles who continues to run the publishing house today, and who has helped make it one of leading independent publishers in France.

Eyrolles currently have 230 ebooks in the dawsonera catalogue and more will be available shortly.
